BARBRA STREISAND is FINALLY writing her memoirs on her 50-plus years in showbiz - but don't expect any warts-and-all confessions when the book is published in 2017, say insiders.

"This is her chance to rewrite her personal history on her own terms," says an insider. "She must be raking in a fortune for this book, but Pundits predict The Way We Were sensation, 73, won't be able to resist boasting about her cozy relationship with notorious womanizer Bill Clinton.

But she'll cover up what really happened when she reportedly slept overnight at the White House during Clinton's presidency - while his wife, Hillary, was out of town.

"Babs never even told current hubby James Brolin what went on behind closed doors that night," the source says.

VALERIE HARPER: I'M READY TO DIE!

AFTER enduring deadly brain cancer for two years, Valerie Harper confesses she's prepared to die. "I'm ready. I'm ready to go," says the ailing 75-year-old actress.

But although the former Rhoda star seems resigned about passing away sooner rather than later, she also admits, "I want to live to be 102."

Valerie was rocked by the shocking cancer diagnosis in January 2013, when docs broke the devastating news she had only three months to live.

Power of positive thinking

But rather than just roll over and die, Valerie stunned everyone by signing up for the grueling TV competition Dancing with the Stars.

She also believes she's a living testament to the power of positive thinking.

BILL O'REILLY LOSES KIDS IN WIFE-BEAT SHOCKER!

LOUDMOUTH Bill O'Reilly calls his FOX News show the "No Spin Zone," but now the hypocrite is spinning up a storm about his own domestic violence scandal!

The O'Reilly Factor host is basically calling his own teen daughter, Madeline, a liar for reportedly telling an investigator she saw her dad drag her mother, Maureen McPhilmy, by her neck down a flight of stairs seven years ago.

The girl apparently dropped the bombshell during a custody hearing last year that resulted in O'Reilly's ex getting sole custody of BOTH Madeline, 16, and the couple's 11-year-old son, Spencer.

Burying scandals

The commentator, 65, - who has railed against domestic violence on his show - and McPhilmy, 49, divorced in 2011 after 16 years of marriage.

During the bitter split, the broadcaster would explode in rage and "go outside to punch a tree," a source says. According to a published report, he also told Madeline her mother was an adulterer.

Now, O'Reilly's vehemently

Ex-wife Maureen McPhilmy got full custody of her kids with O'Reilly, Madeline and Spencer (inset)

denying Madeline's explosive charges, saying in a terse statement, "All allegations against me in these circumstances are 100 percent false."

But this isn't the first time the blustery blowhard has tried to bury a sordid scandal.

In 2004, he insisted a sexual harassment lawsuit filed by FOX producer Andrea Mackris was false and threatened to counter-sue. But when O'Reilly discovered she had taped his conversations, he suddenly decided to settle.

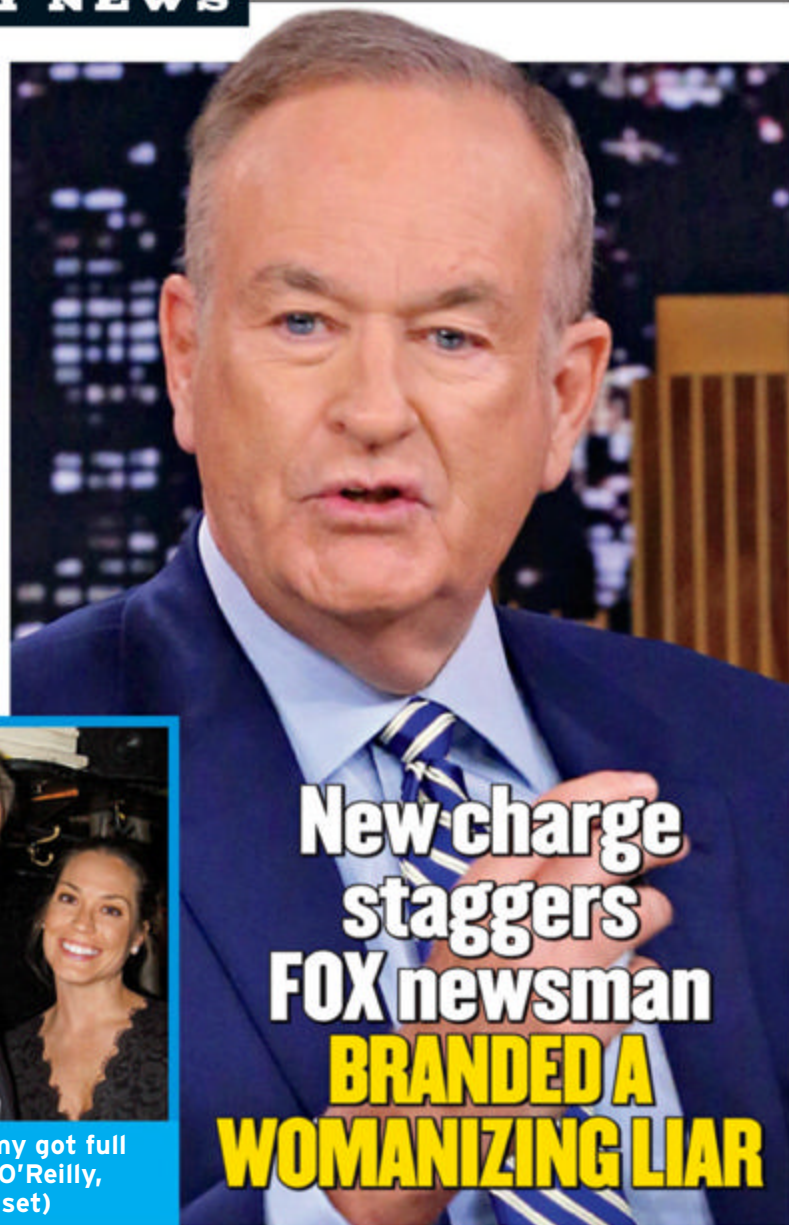

Andrea Mackris

And just this year, the creep was exposed as a liar after falsely insisting he covered combat situations during the 1980s Falkland Islands War.

But the latest furor was sparked by O'Reilly's lousy parenting. He and McPhilmy initially shared custody of their kids. Then in 2012, she went to court asking for full custody saying he had "repeatedly violated conditions of their agreement."

She noted the newsman had hired the kids' therapist to "perform virtually all his parental duties." A court ruled O'Reilly's behavior "could undermine the integrity" of the original joint custody agreement. Then, a few weeks ago, McPhilmy was awarded full custody.

Now, outraged Internet posters are blasting O'Reilly as "an anger bag," "nasty and tenacious," "a hypocrite" and "a man you never want to date." Amazingly, his long-running TV show is still popular.

"Bill O'Reilly has no credibility but knows his viewers don't care," says a source. "They will continue to believe every word he says, no matter what - and he's right about that!"

MONEY-HUNGRY MOM LEAVES KATE IN TEARS!

Carole Middleton CASHES IN by becoming a 'baby expert' after little Charlotte's birth

Mom's taking advantage of her connections, royals fear

JUST weeks after she gave birth to Princess Charlotte, Prince William's wife, Kate, was caught in a furious feud between her mother and the royal family!

The Duchess of Cambridge's in-laws are outraged Kate's mom, Carole Middleton, has taken a job as a baby expert, sparking charges she's cashing in on her royal family ties!

"Kate was in tears when she pleaded, 'Please Mummy, I don't need this aggravation,'" says a source.

"She was asked to get involved because the royals fear Carole won't be able to resist revealing tidbits about her blue-blood grandchildren."

The firestorm erupted about two weeks after Charlotte's May 2 birth.

Carole, 60, who runs the Party Pieces family firm, has joined the luxury baby magazines, Baby London and Little London, aimed at wealthy parents.

But Kate and William are afraid she'll leak intimate details about their home life and Charlotte and her big brother George, 2, say insiders.

"Kate's trying to cope with her new baby and rambunctious George," says the source. "She needs her mom to help her, not cause mega-problems."

"But Carole, who is on the brink of divorcing husband Michael, revels in her role as a royal grandmother, and as a businesswoman, she can't resist using her royal connections!"

Certainly, this isn't the first time the Middletons have turned royal ties into money-making opportunities. Their family firm got a huge boost after Kate married William four years ago.

And Kate's sister, Pippa, 31, was warned to "watch it" after spilling family secrets on the Today show to Matt Lauer. She also landed several very public and very cushy jobs.

"Prince Charles thinks Carole has overstepped the mark, while his estranged wife, Camilla, keeps telling him, 'What do you expect? They're nothing but commoners,'" says the royal insider.

"Carole needs to rethink her new gig. Upsetting the royals is not a very smart move."

LYING presidential contender Hillary Clinton is hiding another health bombshell from America – she’s an alcoholic!

The 67-year-old former Secretary of State’s boozing is so serious, she ran to her daughter Chelsea in desperation and shockingly confessed, “I’m an alcoholic! Please help me,” confides a friend.

Then, she secretly underwent detox before beginning her push for the White House earlier this year, insiders reveal.

“Hillary’s drinking got totally out of control,” says the friend. “The stress of her high-pressure political career, never-ending scandals and her worsening health have sent her into life-threatening booze hell.

“She turned to drink to drown her fears. Hillary tries to hide her problem like she lies about so many things. But she has repeatedly suffered blackouts. When she comes around, she has no idea where she has been or what she has said or done. She’s not fit to be President.”

Binge drinking

But only her inner circle knows she underwent secret detox before she announced her White House campaign.

“She ducked out of the public eye for several weeks and did her rehab stint behind closed doors at home to avoid any publicity,” the friend says.

Tragically, her sobriety hasn’t lasted.

“Despite Chelsea’s support, Hillary crumbled again under the pressure of her life. She fell off the wagon and has been

As GLOBE previously reported, the former First Lady is already trying to cover up a deadly medical crisis – that she has suffered TWO secret strokes.

“She’s defying doctors who warned her the rigors of the grueling 18-month presidential campaign will kill her,” the friend says.

So far, Hillary has suffered three frightening falls: one in the State Department garage, another while giving a speech in Buffalo, N.Y., and a third while boarding a flight in Yemen.

GLOBE shockingly learned the Yemen tumble was due to a mini-stroke!

The presidential hopeful orchestrated a massive cover-up following her frightening fall when she hit her head at her Washington D.C. home in 2012.

The official word was Hillary suffered a concussion and a blood clot formed between her brain and skull.

But the truth is she suffered another stroke, more serious than the first, say sources. And booze is only compounding the issue.

“Now aides are afraid she is going to do or say something on the campaign trail that will ruin her chances in 2016,” says an insider.

“They are trying to delay her big speeches as long as possible and limit her exposure to small groups to minimize the damage if she goes off the rails.”

While 35-year-old Chelsea is a new mom, "she plans to devote a lot of time with Hillary on the campaign trail, even taking baby Charlotte with her," says the source.

Clever Chelsea has also concocted an upbeat spin for her mom's booze issue if the secret spills out.

WALKING MIRACLE HAS LEMON-SIZED HOLE IN HER BRAIN!

But she has

IMAGINE what Cole Cohen could do if she had a WHOLE brain!

The 34-year-old woman has written a book, earned a master in fine arts degree and works as a coordinator at the University of California, Santa Barbara's Interdisciplinary Humanities Center - and she's done it all with just half a brain!

Cohen has an inexplicable hole in her grey matter - the size of a lemon - where her parietal lobe ought to be.

That lobe controls spatial sense, navigation, number comprehension and sensory information. So she can't do a lot of normal things, such as drive a car, make change, read a map or tell time.

"What I have isn't just about counting change and telling time," says Cohen. "It's perception and mapping and how I see the world, which doesn't line up with how everybody else sees the world."

Incredibly, no one knew what was wrong with Cohen until she got an MRI at age 26. Her neurologist pointed out a large black spot on her brain scan.

Behavioral issues

She recalls in her memoir, Head Case: My Brain and Other Wonders, "We are all staring dumbly at the screen until the doctor begins to speak. 'So, this is your brain...and this - he points to the black spot - 'is a hole.'"

When she asked how big it was, the medical expert replied, "About the size of a lemon. Or, say, a small fist. Like the fist of a 10-year-old."

While Cohen was growing up, people figured she suffered from attention deficit disorder and a learning disability, even though she excelled at English. She also had some behavioral issues, possibly due to the host of strong medications she was given, including antipsychotic, anti-anxiety and sleeping drugs.

But she got off the meds after finding out what her real problem is and began seeing a neurological chiropractor. He explained the missing lobe is actually there, it's just atrophied after being pushed aside by cranial fluids. Now, Cohen does mental exercises to strengthen her brain.

"It's a huge relief," she says about her diagnosis. "To be able to know why has made all the difference in the world for me."

WANT

ONE of the world's deadliest and most bloodthirsty terrorists is a sneaky 32-year-old English-born mother-of-four known as The White Widow.

Already the mastermind behind at least 400 deaths, Samantha Lewthwaite is now married to second hubby Hassan Maalim Ibrahim, a warlord with Somalia's bloodthirsty Al-Shabaab terrorists.

Intelligence sources say she is planning more deadly attacks on innocent civilians to be carried out by Ibrahim's minions.

Her blood-drenched dossier includes the massacre of 148 Christian students at Kenya's Garissa University on April 2, the Feb. 20 suicide bombing that killed 28 at a Mogadishu hotel and the 2013 slaughter of 67 people in Kenya's Westgate Mall.

The despicable dame tops the "most wanted" list of U.S., British and African spy agencies.

Evil person

"This lady sits at the right hand of the leader directing attacks," says a Kenyan intelligence head. "She is an evil person, but a very clever operator."

In fact, she's a main cog in Al-Shabaab's own Intelligence Unit. Lewthwaite has her own army of spies, 200 women who are mostly widows of terrorists. They collect information from the market place, shadowing

Samantha plotted the infamous, deadly attacks that massacred hundreds at a mall and college troops and funnel details back to Lewthwaite. Her fem spies call her "The Holy Mother of War."

The daughter of a former British Army officer, she converted to Islam as a heartbroken teen. She sought refuge with a Muslim family in Britain following her parents' divorce. After her Jamaican-born first hubby Germaine Lindsay, 30, died while carrying out the suicide-bomb attack that killed 52 in a London subway in July 2005, she cleverly threw lawmen off her trail.

Pretending to be outraged by his terrorism, she told cops her hubby's attack was "abhorrent," adding, "how these people could have turned him and poisoned his mind is dreadful."

Then, she hightailed it out of England, surfacing a year later in South Africa where she supposedly worked as a computer technician.

But in 2011, investigators found papers with her picture that identified her as "Natalie Faye Webb," a bombmaker in an Al-Shabaab death factory.

Soon, Lewthwaite had risen to the highest levels of the twisted group and was spearheading bloody atrocities.

"She does not carry out attacks herself as she is too important – but is responsible for many deaths – hundreds," notes a Somali intelligence official. "She uses children to kill for her."

The heartless hussy recruits boys as young as 15, buying them from their starving families for $500 a head.

She brainwashes them, pumps them full of heroin and sends them to their deaths as suicide bombers.

The White Widow barely escaped a U.S. drone attack on March 15 and now "poses as a nomadic woman" and "travels undercover with camels and goats, which makes her hard to track," a Western intelligence analyst says. But Somali intelligence agents working with England's MI6 spy agency vow to get her "dead or alive."

"The lady does not sleep in the same place twice," says a Somali official. "But we will get her."

LET me make this very clear: I LOVE DOGS! If you don't believe me, send me a friend request on Facebook and you'll get to see scores of photos of Topie, my Golden Retriever, and Tori, my labradoodle.

Topie was rescued from a kill shelter in Miami by a wonderful organization. A short time later, we were lucky enough to get her. Tori was given to us by a couple, who was moving to the Bahamas and could no longer keep her.

Both of them mean the world to me!

So, it really pisses me off to hear about Robin Dumbass Thicke and his airhead 20-year-old girlfriend April Love Geary.

Thicke, the son of Growing Pains star, Alan Thicke and soap diva Gloria Loring, just recently spent $350 to buy Geary a black terrier mix named Bincy. He would have been better off plunking the money down as a first installment payment to put Geary and himself in a mental health facility.

According to one report, the two morons have turned the poor pooch into a POTHEAD!

Dumbass April says the adorable dog managed to get into their stash of marijuana and got sick. At least the two fools were smart enough to quickly take the dog to the vet.

But just days later the cute canine was back at the doggie doc.

April maintained the pooch was suffering from a contact high and added:

"It's not me! Some falls on the ground or she sits by him smoking and just inhales it hahaha."

OK, take the dog away from these two jerks NOW – no questions asked. Some people

SOPHIA LOREN, 81, BATTLING DEPRESSION

HEART PROBLEMS & HER FADING BEAUTY have film goddess in funk

SOPHIA Loren's bombshell figure has self-destructed - and insiders say the movie goddess is in a deep depression as she's ravaged by Father Time!

Shocking new photos show once-glamorous Sophia looking more like a frail old lady than a legendary screen siren - sparking fears she's fading fast. Now, friends wonder why the Italian treasure has "gone downhill so quickly."

Certainly, the actress, 81, looks drawn and scrawny. Friends say once-voluptuous Sophia is plagued by depression, a heart ailment, arthritis and loneliness.

"Until she turned 80, Sophia handled aging well," says the source. "But now her failing health and loneliness seem to have worn her down."

Loren is traumatized by her heart problems, which first struck while she was visiting New York in 1998.

Felled by a now-recurring irregular heartbeat, Loren says, "I thought I was going to die. I'm still in fear of that horrible sensation that death is catching up with me."

The actress, who won a Best Actress Oscar in 1962 for La Ciociara, lives alone in an apartment in Switzerland. And her continuing episodes of arrhythmia have left Loren fearful and depressed, says a source.

Sophia is also still grieving for her husband, movie producer Carlo Ponti, who died in 2007 at age 94, says the source. Their stormy 40-year marriage produced two sons, Carlo Jr. and Edoardo, but the boys live far away in Hollywood. And Sophia still "misses Carlo desperately," the source says.

Another insider notes Sophia seems to have given up on her looks. "In the past, she's had nips and tucks, but her arrhythmic heart condition makes her cautious about going under the knife again," explains the insider.

"Who'd have thought Sophia Loren would spend her last sad days a lonely, old lady?"

TONY BENNETT is 88 and still going strong! The ageless crooner not only released a Grammy-winning album, Cheek to Cheek, with 29-year-old Lady Gaga last year, he's also seen her naked. Now, he's on a tour of the U.S. and Europe with the songbird. But although Bennett may be young at heart, he still doesn't have a cell phone.

Here are 10 things you never knew about the music legend:

10 THINGS YOU DON'T KNOW ABOUT TONY BENNETT

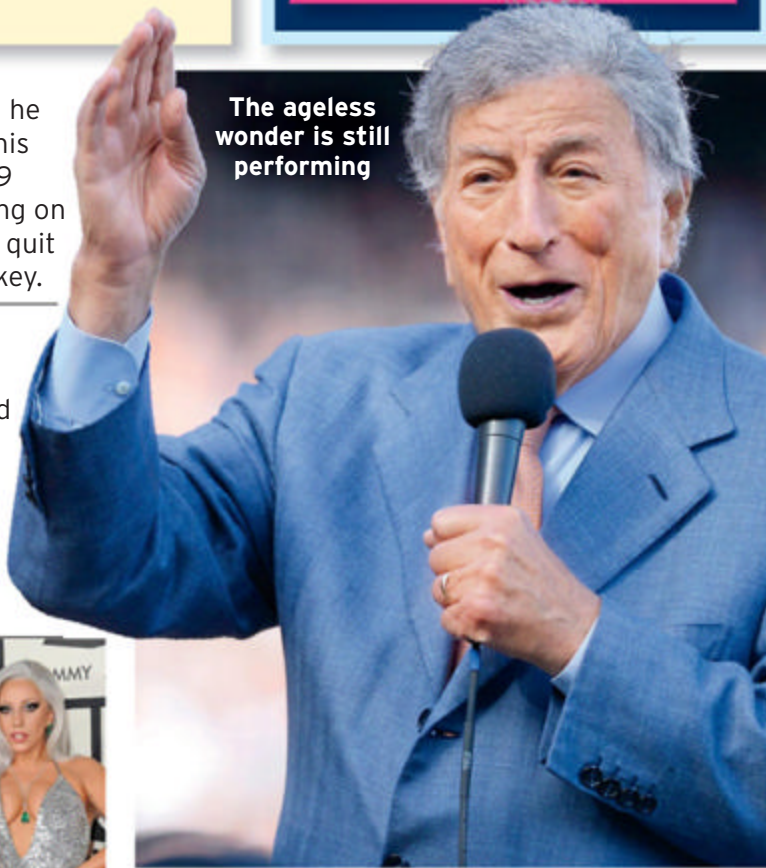

1. He almost drowned when he passed out in his bathtub in 1979 after overdosing on cocaine - then quit drugs cold turkey.

2. His career stalled in 1965 but was revived when Frank Sinatra told Life magazine that Bennett was his favorite singer.

The ageless wonder is still performing

3. Lady Gaga and Bennett first sang together in 2011 - and afterward she stripped and he painted her nude portrait!

4. He dropped out of high school at age 16 to help support his family by singing in Italian restaurants.

5. His worst job was as an elevator operator - he was fired on his first day.

6. He drove a car once as a teenager but was in an accident and never got behind the wheel again.

7. Bob Hope convinced him to change his stage name from Joe Bari to Tony Bennett.

10. He doesn't carry a cell phone and says his favorite technology is the pencil.

REBEL WILSON'S BIG FAT FIB!

PITCH PERFECT's Aussie star Rebel Wilson is no different than other gals - she tells white lies about her age!

The roly-poly laugh riot previously insisted she was 29 years old. But a former high school classmate from Sydney's Tara Anglican School for Girls spilled the beans - the star is actually 36!

"No one at school knew of a Rebel Wilson," says the classmate. "Her name is, or was, Melanie Elizabeth Bownds, and she's 36."

Meanwhile, Aussie business records confirm she's older than she says. And a former co-worker at a movie theater Down Under recalls in real-life she was not a cut-up, but "kind of quiet."

However, the bubbly blonde prefers to keep on fibbin'. She recently tweeted she's "actually a 100-year-old mermaid known as 'CC Chalice.'" That sounds fishy, too!

SONS OF ANARCHY

TV'S ultraviolent outlaw biker drama Sons of Anarchy is being blamed for the wild Texas bloodbath that left nine motorcycle gang members dead and at least 18 wounded!

The gritty FX show glorified a lethal biker gang that was constantly getting into deadly turf wars and fatal fights over rights to ply the illegal drug trade – but the characters still played out as heroes.

And when a real-life pow-wow between five notorious biker “clubs” to settle boundary disputes erupted into all-out war, the shocking explosion of violence could have been ripped from the pages of a TV script. But, sadly, the death and destruction was all too real.

‘Not misunderstood boys’

“Incredibly, vicious outlaw biker gangs are being glamorized on TV!” one media insider tells GLOBE. “Viewers of The Sons of Anarchy fantasize that they, too, could lead lives outside the law.

“But many of these gang members are nothing but ruthless criminals on bikes, who kill and deal drugs. They are not misunderstood boys.

“They are real threats to society. And the result of Hollywood giving outlaw bikers the glamour treatment is this tragic bloodbath in Texas!”

“Sons,” starring Charlie Hunnam and Bodies (circled) are covered up in the parking lot of Twin Peaks restaurant (left) in the aftermath of the bloody shoot-out Katey Sagal, debuted in 2008. Last year 10.6 million viewers watched the first episode of the seventh and final season.

“Its fans are fanatical,” a source says. “They grieve over the deaths of beloved characters.”

Now real-life families are grieving after the May 17 shoot-out.

Initially, the rival Bandidos and Cossacks decided to huddle. But then the Scimitars, Los Pirados and the Veterans got involved in the sit-down at a popular Waco eatery.

Hundreds of bikers converged on the Twin

Peaks restaurant and local cops, who’d been tipped that an all-out war was brewing, kept a nervous eye on the potential powder keg.

As church-going families ate and drank alongside gnarled, tattooed bikers, a vicious fight broke out in the bathroom and soon spilled into the bar, then out to the parking lot.

The brawl began with fists, clubs, chains and knives – but quickly escalated into a running gun battle between heavily-armed hoodlums. After police were shot at, they returned the fire “wounding and possibly killing several,” said Waco Police Department’s Sgt. Patrick Swanton. “There were dead everywhere, blood everywhere. In 34 years, this is the most violent crime scene I’ve ever been in.”

Meanwhile, peace-loving patrons and their innocent children cowered in the restaurant as hundreds of gang members rampaged.

When the blood-red dust settled, bodies were strewn in the parking lot where cars were riddled with bullet holes. Nearly 200 brutal thugs were jailed and charged with engaging in organized crime in connection to a capital murder and held on $1 million bail.

While motorcycle gangs have been around since World War II, the public has allowed itself to see biker gang members as being modern-day Robin Hoods, thanks to the likes of “Sons,” say experts.

Jay Dobyns, a retired special agent with the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives went undercover to investigate the notorious Hell’s Angels.

“These guys may not be book smart, but they have their Ph.Ds in violence and intimidation,” he says. “It’s all about colors (patch-covered vests), and where you’re at and do you have permission to be there. It’s a nasty, dirty, vomit-covered existence.”

Adds one Internet poster, “I didn’t realize how accurate ‘Sons’ was, thought it was just some over the top orgasm of blood, gore and violence. Turns out the Biker Gang mafia * is as real life as it gets.”

GRANNY KILLS CHEATING HUBBY WITH SHOTGUN!

Bob Harris was shot as he slept

Evil Colleen Harris claims SHE CAN'T REMEMBER A THING

NEARLY three decades after blowing away one husband with a shotgun, cold and calculating Colleen Harris did it again!

But THIS time she didn't beat the rap. The jury ruled her tale about killing cheating hubby Bob Harris in January 2013 while in "a gray fog" of amnesia was total bull. She was convicted of first-degree murder.

Blackout

Cruel Colleen was stunned by the verdict. Back in 1986 she used the SAME defense to convince a Placerville, Calif., jury that she killed then-hubby James Batten during a memory-robbing blackout and got away.

But Colleen "has selective amnesia," prosecutor Joe Alexander told the jury. "She picks and chooses what she is going to remember. She entered the bedroom with a 12-gauge shotgun as Bob lay sleeping" and she "pulled the trigger."

The 73-year-old granny and third hubby Bob, 72, a retired

Forest Service Supervisor, had a very rocky marriage. In 2004, they divorced only to tie the knot again the next year. They separated again in 2012 after Bob, a globe-trotting conservationist, hooked up with a 34-year-old teacher while working on a project in Mongolia.

In January 2013, Harris, who lived in Lake Tahoe, was staying with Colleen to help her recover from hip surgery when she texted his daughter.

"As I sit here, wondering who I am married to," she wrote, "Your dad just called his Mongolia love about 10 minutes ago."

Shortly after sending the message, she killed Bob. But she claimed to have no memory of the incident. After the shooting, Colleen drove to San Francisco to stash Bob's cell phone, handgun and coin collection in her son's garage. When she got back, she called David Weiner, the attorney who'd won her acquittal in the death of her previous husband. He finally notified the authorities that Harris was dead. Colleen told cops she didn't hear a shot and turned on the bedroom light because she thought Harris "had a nose bleed." In fact, Bob was missing most of his face!

At the trial, Weiner tried to convince the jury the shooting was accidental as the couple fought over the weapon.

But prosecutor

Alexander got Colleen to admit she was holding the gun. She now faces life behind bars.

"She took it hard, hard, hard," says Weiner. "She is distraught."

Celebs tell all!

STAR
THERON

SHAVING OFF MY HAIR WAS LIBERATING!

CHARLIZE THERON ditched her trademark glamor to play Furiosa, a fierce warrior with a shaved head and prosthetic arm, in the blockbuster Mad Max: Fury Road.

Her character, who tries to rescue a harem of wives held captive by a warlord, is the driving force in the action-packed sci-fi film that stars Tom Hardy as Mad Max.

Her raw performance has the stamp of approval from her two main men – adopted son, Jackson, 3, and actor Sean Penn, 54, “the love of my life.”

In this interview with a freelance journalist, the 39-year-old screen queen talks about being bald, motherhood, and aging.

Theron, son Jackson and beau Sean Penn at a Los Angeles event

Charlize has a beautiful head of hair, but was happy to shave it off for her Mad Max: Fury Road role

Q: Are you tough in real life like Furiosa?

A: I'd like to think I am, but I am a pretty happy person in general. She's fighting for her survival, I'm not.

Q: Were you worried about shaving off your beautiful hair?

A: No, I wasn't. It was quite liberating, to be honest. I liked it. And hair always grows back.

Q: Did you have your stylist buzz it off?

A: No, a friend helped me out.

It took 45 minutes. Afterwards I took a Selfie.

Q: Do you recommend it?

A: Here's the amazing thing. I was 20 minutes early to everything in my life. It's amazing how much time we spend on our hair.

Q: How has motherhood changed you?

A: It's made me a better person, more understanding and more patient. My son is my everything.

Q: Have your own life experiences influenced the roles you pick?

A: To a certain extent. I like stories of people who have had to struggle in life. I see that pain that drives us a lot.

Q: What advice would you give your 20-year-old self?

A: I would say, 'Calm down.' I was always in a rush. I felt time was going to run out. When I hit 30, I realized I didn't have to please anybody.

Q: What do you feel about aging?

A: We can celebrate every age. It's not the case that we're like cut flowers and after a while we wilt. Getting older is not that bad!

REVEALED! JFK JR.'S TWISTED LOVE FOR HIS MOTHER JACKIE

SHE RAN HIS LIFE and drove him to see a shrink

Controlling mom Jackie always kept a firm grip
on her son

JOHAN F. KENNEDY Jr. was a momma's boy who spent his life trying to earn approval from overbearing matriarch Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis! Her grip was so strong – and his devotion and fear of her wrath were so great – John was forced to see a psychiatrist to sort out their twisted love relationship. And while his mother was alive, no woman, no matter how beautiful, smart, rich or sophisticated, was good enough to take her place.

Says a longtime Kennedy family friend, "From the day she made John salute his dead father at the state funeral in Washington, D.C., Jackie orchestrated his life. And she ruled him ruthlessly."

Jackie's half-brother Jamie Auchincloss said the former First Lady only had to "lift an eyebrow" and John would know EXACTLY what behavior she was demanding. →

Things got so bad that at one point, Jackie's own mom, Janet Auchincloss, begged her daughter to ease up on the boy. But President John F. Kennedy's widow wouldn't listen – and was determined to shape her son for greatness.

"She clearly couldn't help herself," says the friend. "She wanted control over every aspect of his life. She had a vision of who her son was going to be and a script for his life, which she demanded he follow to the letter."

"She made John so crazy, he was going to a psychiatrist at age 6 and was a nervous wreck. The psychiatrist also told her to ease up, but she ignored him, too."

It made John's life a horror. When he was in elementary school, other kids made fun of him for being a mama's boy because Jackie always seemed to be hovering around him.

Withering criticism

But he gradually bristled over her control "by doing dangerous, even life-threatening things," said his half-uncle Auchincloss.

He raced his bicycle around New York City streets and was prone to injuring himself on a regular basis. As a teenager, he climbed the steepest rock faces, went down raging rivers and learned to fly a paraglider, which nearly killed him.

Then, when he began dating, Jackie tried to take control of his love life, turning a blind eye to his serial skirt-chasing but letting her son know who was acceptable and who was not.

John went out with a bevy of beautiful actresses, including Molly Ringwald, Cindy Crawford, Sarah Jessica Parker and Daryl Hannah.

Naturally, none won "Mummy's" approval and she did her best to drive them off with withering criticism, cutting insults and an icy cold shoulder.

John's 1995 hookup with Material Girl Madonna particularly enraged his mother, who forbid him to see the risqué singer. Author Christopher Andersen writes Jackie branded Madonna "a crass social climber, a tramp," who was "still married" to actor Sean Penn! So it's no surprise John and Madonna parted company.

DISAPPROVING MOTHER

With a simple stare or glare, Jackie could always let her son know what was expected of him. She disapproved of his celebrity harem (right)

TEARFUL FAREWELL

John's sister, Caroline, kneels at the foot of their mother's casket at Arlington National Cemetery in 1994

And while dating Splash actress Daryl Hannah, Jackie's only son complained to a friend, "I know my mother isn't excited about actresses, but she will have to accept that I am 28 years old and should be allowed to make my own decisions."

But the family friend says, "She didn't care if John was 28 or 58, she still wanted to control his life and keep nasty 'show girls' away from him."

John's girlfriend Christina Haag, who lasted from 1985 until 1990, was around enough to witness the hunk's bizarre relationship with his mother.

In her book, Come to the Edge, she notes how Jackie and John adored each other's company.

"They had a really special bond, and she was delighted when he would tell stories at the dinner table at Martha's Vineyard," Haag writes. "He made her laugh."

And she recalls a harrowing open-sea kayak expedition. After their boat was swamped by a massive wave, danger-junkie John's cool slipped when they finally reached shore.

He then revealed the one thing that truly frightened him was his mother!

"John, who was never afraid, paced the beach muttering, 'Don't tell Mummy, don't tell Mummy,'" she says in her book.

Acting not an option

In all things, John was desperate to please Jackie, who often said, "If you bungle raising your children, then nothing else matters in life."

After he'd starred in A Comedy of Errors and One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest at Phillips Exeter Academy, his elite boarding school in New Hampshire, John was bitten by the showbiz bug. He wanted to make it a career. But Jackie made it clear that acting would NOT be an option.

So after graduating from Brown University in Rhode Island, he enrolled as a law student at New York University. The legal system wasn't his passion, but he knew his mother would be thrilled he went down that path. He tried his hand at lawyering – but didn't really blossom until after her death from cancer in May 1994.

After her passing, he finally married Carolyn Bessette, a former Calvin Klein publicist, who had the cool sophistication of his mother. But that love story would have a tragic end, too.

John and his beautiful bride were murdered in a plane crash made to look like an accident on July 16, 1999. But Jackie remained John's guiding light up until the day he died.

Medical news YOU can use!

ALZHEIMER'S WARNING!

HEAVY snoring and sleep apnea can lead to early onset Alzheimer's disease and memory loss, say experts.

A study led by Dr. Ricardo Osorio, assistant professor of psychiatry at NYU Langone Medical Center, found snorers' memory problems occur at least 11 years earlier than in people who sleep peacefully.

Blocked airways

A staggering 22 million Americans suffer from obstructive sleep apnea (OSA) in which airways are blocked for seconds or minutes during sleep.

"When sleep apnea is severe, it raises the risk of high blood pressure, stroke and diabetes," Dr. Helene Emsellem, director of the Center for Sleep & Wake Disorders in Chevy Chase, Md., tells GLOBE.

Rosie suffers from sleep apnea

Comedian Rosie O'Donnell, 53, suffers from the disorder which experts say quadruples your risk of dying from heart disease and brain damage.

Dr. Gary Small, co-author of 2 Weeks to a Younger Brain, tells GLOBE, "The new research shows there is a link between heavy snoring and the development of Alzheimer's disease."

"When people snore, the delivery of oxygen to the brain is interrupted which could damage brain health."

Sleep apnea, says Emsellem, can be treated in several ways:

- If you are obese, lose weight.
- A simple dental brace that holds the lower jaw forward can help ease breathing.

SNORING CAUSES MEMORY DAMAGE!

Sleep apnea can be treated with a CPAP machine

- Use a continuous positive airway pressure (CPAP) machine. With the device, a face or nose mask is fitted to the patient and attached to a machine that increases air pressure in the throat to prevent it from narrowing or collapsing.

Surgery is another option but it's only 65 percent successful.

Group therapy really works!

+ GROUP therapy is just as effective at battling depression as drugs and has no side effects. That's the conclusion of experts after a British study found that drugs - the most common treatment - may not be better than therapy in combating dark moods. Therapy may be a viable alternative to antidepressant medication as a long-term treatment strategy," says Stephan Hofmann, a director at Boston University's Center for Anxiety and Related Disorders.

Easy way to avoid Type 2 diabetes

+ TO cut diabetes risk, just trade one sugary soft drink a day for a glass of water or unsweetened tea. Researchers say the simple switch reduces the chance of developing Type 2 diabetes by a whopping 25 percent. The findings support the World Health Organization's recommendations to limit the consumption of food with added sugar. Says researcher Dr. Nita Forouhi, "Limiting the intake of sweetened beverages provides an easy way to achieve such a goal."

EYELINER LINKED TO INFECTIONS!

WOMEN beware! Eyeliner can damage your eyes! Researchers from the University of Waterloo in Ontario, Canada, found that when applied to the inside of the lash line, particles of eyeliner migrate into the eye itself.

For people who wear contact lenses, this can be especially troublesome as the waxes and pigments can stick to the lens causing blurred vision.

Bacteria from the liner can also get trapped in the tear film of the eye causing infections.

Dr. Cary Silverman, medical director of EyeCare 20/20 in East Hanover, New Jersey tells GLOBE, "I tell my patients to keep eyeliner outside of where the eyelashes grow."

Dr. Kenneth Beer, a dermatologist from Palm Beach County adds, "Stick to hypoallergenic brands and replace the product every six months."

Going...Going...GONE! United States Baseball Legal Tender Coin

Cooperstown, N.Y.

The National Baseball Hall of Fame and the U.S. Mint have released the FIRST EVER curved American coin. This legal tender half dollar was struck in 2014 to honor the 75th anniversary of the National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum.

First Ever Curved American Coin

The coin's curved design is a first in American history. The outward curving 'tails' side of the coin depicts a baseball—complete with intricate stitching. The inward curving 'heads' side of the half dollar reveals a classic leather baseball glove, with the curve perfectly reflecting the natural shape of a weathered and well-loved baseball mitt. Among the celebrity judges who selected this FIRST EVER curved design were Hall of Famers Joe Morgan, Brooks Robinson, Ozzie Smith, Don Sutton, and Dave Winfield. The curved design is like nothing you have ever seen before. You won't believe it when you hold it!

Going...Going...GONE

Public demand for these coins exploded and a number of versions sold out almost immediately. The Baseball Hall of Fame Half Dollar will go down in history as a runaway best seller. But even though the coins are no longer available from the U.S. Mint, you don't have to strike out.

BUTTHEAD GOODMAN PUTS LIFE ON LINE TO LOSE WEIGHT!

JANICE SUES COSBY IN SEX ATTACK SHOWDOWN

AN outraged Janice Dickinson slapped Bill Cosby with a lawsuit after his attorney branded her rape accusations against the comic as "a fabricated lie."

Dickinson, 59, claims Cosby, 77, drugged her glass of red wine and sexually molested her while she was incapacitated during a 1982 encounter in Lake Tahoe, Calif.

While the statute of limitations on the alleged rape has passed, Dickinson is using the lawyer's statement to sue the beleaguered comedian for defamation and emotional distress.

The former super-model and America's Next Top Model judge is just one of nearly two dozen women who have made similar rape claims against Cosby. He has vehemently denied the accusations.

Says Dickinson, "I just want to be able to prove to the world that this happened."

FATHEAD John Goodman ought to write a new book – Dieting for Dummies!

The mammoth star appears to be losing weight by smoking deadly cigarettes, say sources.

The 6-foot-2 actor, who once tipped the scales at a whopping 400 pounds, has slimmed down to about 290. But Goodman, 62, has apparently been using cigarettes as a weight-loss crutch.

"He's probably using nicotine as an appetite suppressant," notes Florida physician Dr. Gabe Mirkin. "But he's still carrying a lot of fat around his belly. Frankly, the weight will kill him eventually, but the smoking will bring it on earlier."

Mirkin says Goodman – whose dad died of a heart attack at age 36 – is doubling down on his health risk.

"When a person carries around abdominal fat, his blood sugar is elevated and that punches holes in the body's arteries, where dangerous plaque is formed," explains the doc. "Ciga-

The former Roseanne star's slimmer new look has sparked speculation he may have undergone weight loss surgery.

But L.A.-based bariatric surgeon Dr. Carson Liu tells GLOBE, "Goodman has a cigarette in his mouth in almost every photo, and most surgeons would not perform bariatric surgery on a patient who smokes."

"Rapid weight loss and smoking is a time bomb for heart attacks and strokes."

Elvis Presley's smoldering looks and immense charisma had women chasing after him

REVEALED! ELVIS HAD SECRET SON!

I AM Elvis Presley's secret son! That's the shocking claim of a 55-year-old German man who says he's the love child fathered by the King of Rock 'n' Roll during his service with the U.S. Army in Germany.

In a blockbuster world exclusive, GLOBE can reveal the man, known as Dieter, bears a striking likeness to Presley and only recently learned the truth about his heritage after his mother's death.

All his life, Dieter – whose full name is being withheld by GLOBE at the request of the source – believed he and his sister, Ingrid, shared the same mother and father.

But it was all a lie. The shocking truth about his birth in 1959 was exposed soon after the woman he called “mom” passed away two years ago at around age 90.

“While going through her effects, he found his birth certificate,” says the source, who is helping Dieter piece together his past. “The document named Ingrid as his real mother and his father was listed ‘unknown.’”

“But attached to the certificate was a handwritten note revealing his real dad was actually Elvis Presley!

“Dieter was stunned by the discovery. Everyone had lied to him his whole life! Now he understood the strong resemblance to Elvis that everyone talked about.

“He told me, ‘I am Elvis Presley’s son! What do I do now?’”

For the moment, Dieter, who is a successful businessman in Frankfurt, is still absorbing the impact of his paternity.

The saga began soon after Elvis arrived in Germany in October 1958. He was assigned to the 3rd Armored Division in Friedberg and was given driving duties for Company C.

Says the source, “It’s well known that Elvis was allowed to live off-base, at first in hotels and eventually in a rented house in Bad Nauheim.

“He and his friends would go into town and the girls flocked to him. One of them was a beautiful teenager, Ingrid, who was just 16. She and Elvis hit it off. She ended up pregnant just months later."

Hatched a plan

Ingrid's parents were horrified, but an abortion was out of the question. So they hatched a plan to claim the child as their own and avoid any scandal.

"They sent Ingrid to another city where she gave birth. Then her parents sneaked the infant back into their home claiming he was actually their baby," the source says.

With Ingrid in hiding awaiting the early winter birth, Elvis met his future bride, Priscilla Beaulieu, 14, in September 1959. Elvis' well-publicized romance with Priscilla left Ingrid no choice but to keep up her parents' charade. "The boy grew up in the same household as his real mother – and he believed she was his big sister!" the source says.

"Ingrid completed her education, went to college and became a teacher, all the while keeping her huge secret. She eventually married and had more kids but died of a heart attack in 2010."

The source, who's revealing the secret for the first time, says that even though Dieter always bore a remarkable likeness to Elvis, he never thought much of it when friends pointed it out.

"He dismissed it as coincidence," says the insider. "Until just two years ago, he believed he was the son a hard-working father, who died in 1990."

According to the source, Dieter – a self-made millionaire who's divorced and has no children – has yet to decide whether he'll officially tell the world, including Priscilla and Elvis' daughter, Lisa Marie, he's a Presley too.

"So far the idea is daunting, mainly because people claiming to be Elvis' children are ridiculed and their lives ruined," says the insider. "Right now, Dieter's weighing whether to ask for a DNA test to prove who he REALLY is."

If results prove he's Elvis' son, it could throw the rock legend's entire legacy into chaos!

In hindsight, Dieter now wonders if Elvis or someone in his entourage sent money to his family while he was growing up.

"They lived a comfortable life, in a nice house, even though his 'father' didn't have a good-paying job," the insider says.

"Elvis was a huge star and if his controlling manager, Colonel Tom Parker, got wind of a love child, he'd have paid off the mother to keep her quiet."

Adds a source close to the Presleys, "It will create a sensation if this man comes forward and proves his relationship to Elvis. It will surely shatter Priscilla and Lisa Marie."

SARAH PALIN HUMILIATED BY WEDDING SCANDAL!

Daughter BRISTOL DUMPS FIANCE who had a secret wife

Sarah's wayward daughter, Bristol, snuggles Dakota

SARAH PALIN's hopes of finally getting her wayward daughter Bristol hitched to a decent guy crumbled when it was revealed her war hero groom had a secret wife!

Now the conservative Republican poster girl has suffered yet another humiliating family scandal and is shaken to her very core, sources say. Palin was "blindsided" by the wedding fiasco, says an insider.

Bristol, 24, and Medal of Honor winner Dakota Meyer, 26, abruptly called off their Kentucky nuptials – slated for May 23 – after word broke that Dakota had married Cassandra Wain in 2008 when he was 19. They divorced in 2010.

Runaway bride

Although friends are buzzing Bristol gave her fiance the heave-ho over his "secret wife," the runaway bride insists "Dakota and I discussed our past relationships prior to our engagement."

Still, there's no word on exactly why the much-anticipated nuptials were suddenly scrapped – a turn of events a source says left former Alaska governor Sarah, 51, red-faced.

"It's yet another family scandal and Sarah is humiliated," reveals the source. "She thought Bristol hit the jackpot with Dakota, who was different from all the deadbeats her daughter had previously brought home.

"But she had a rude awakening when it came out that Dakota had a secret wife. Sarah was beside herself and told Bristol,

Dakota receiving the Medal of Honor from President Barack Obama. Bristol with ex-beau Levi Johnston and their baby Tripp (right)

'Call off the wedding immediately. This guy is bad news.'

It's not the first time Bristol has embarrassed conservative firebrand, Sarah. Bristol was an out-of-wedlock teen mom after having son, Tripp, 6, with her ex-beau Levi Johnston. She then dated pipeline worker, Gino Paoletti, the former boyfriend of Levi's sister.

Bristol was also at the center of the clan's infamous October 2014 brawl during a party on her dad Todd's 50th birthday.

Meanwhile, Sarah and Todd have had a stormy marriage since she ran for Vice President alongside John McCain in 2008. As GLOBE previously reported, the union has come close to exploding several times over the stress of that campaign as well as subsequent charges of cheating, lies, jealousy and her runaway success as a FOX News commentator.

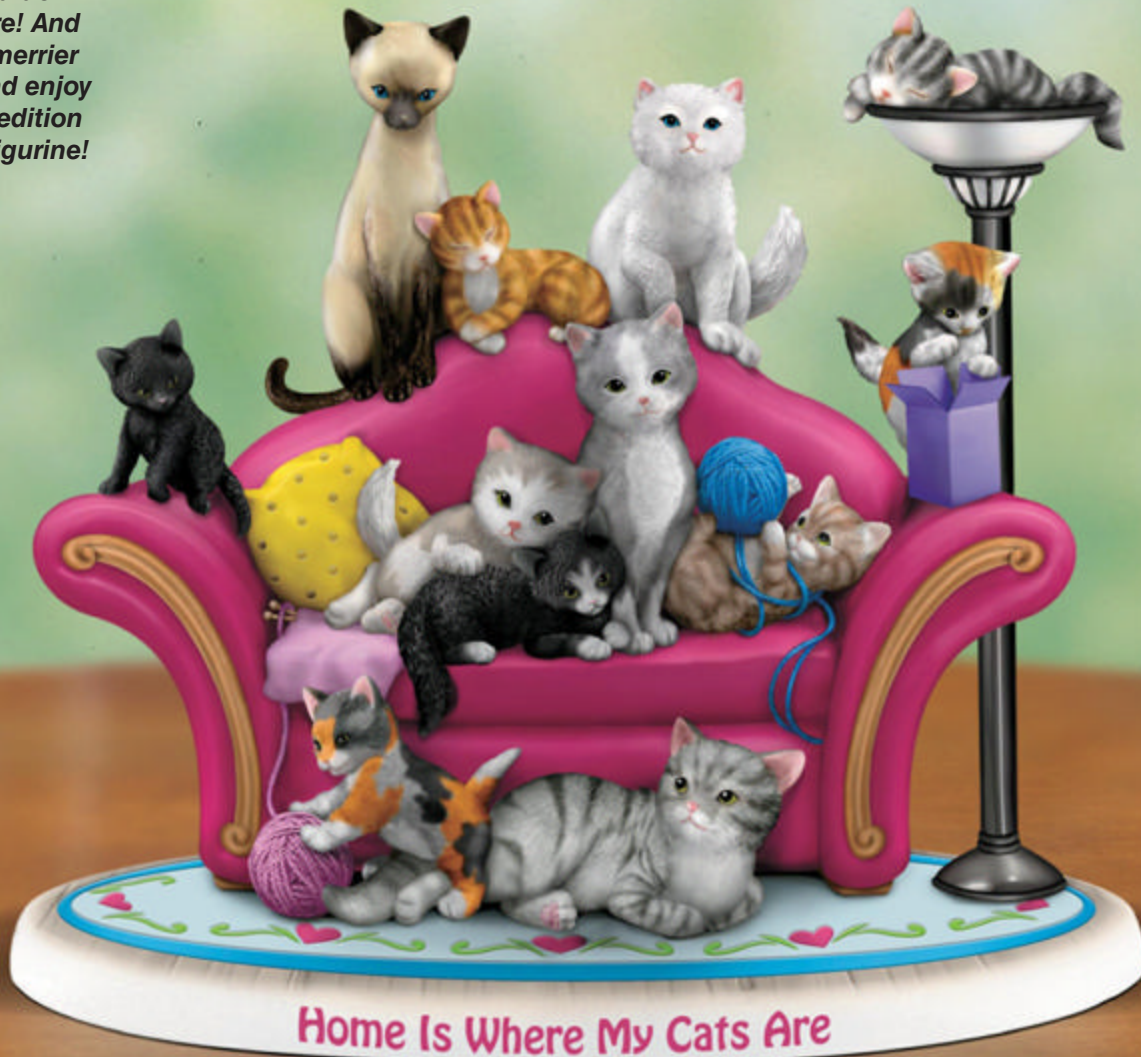

"For a while it looked like Bristol's wedding would pull the whole family together," says the source. "Sarah thought that Dakota would be good for Bristol and also burnish her own image. But that's obviously not going to happen now."

CROC HUNTER STEVE BETRAYED BY HIS PAL!

IRWIN'S FATHER LIVID
after photographer
bared death details

THE late Crocodile Hunter's outraged dad is blasting the cameraman who broke a "pact of silence" about Steve Irwin's tragic death.

Irwin waves during his last expedition (above). He left behind wife Terri and kids Bindi and Bob

LEGACY ALIVE

Steve Irwin suffered a gruesome and painful death after being impaled by a giant stingray barb

FURIOUS FATHER

Lensman Justin Lyons' interview about the tragedy (above) angered Steve's dad Bob (right)

That didn't sit well with the beloved wildlife expert's 75-year-old father, Bob Irwin.

"I personally felt very sad and to a degree angry about what Justin had to say," fumes Bob. "Nobody that's close to the family wants to go back there and revisit that event."

Lyons spilled the beans in an interview last year, describing how the stingray may have mistaken Irwin for a shark and went to defend itself.

"All of a sudden, it propped up on its front and started stabbing wildly with its tail, hundreds of strikes in a few seconds," Lyons recalled.

Trained to keep filming no matter what, Lyons didn't realize anything was wrong until he panned around and saw "Steve standing in a huge pool of blood."

He added that the creature's poisonous barb "went through (Irwin's) chest like hot butter" and he "had about a two-inch injury over his heart with blood-fluid coming out of it."

Once in the boat, Lyons said he urged Steve to "think of your kids and hang on!" But the TV legend "just sort of looked at me calmly and said, 'I'm dying,'" Lyons revealed. "And that was the last thing he said."

The disclosure outraged Steve's father, who feared how it would impact the family.

Irwin is survived by his wife Terri, now 50, daughter Bindi, 16 and son Bob, 10, who continue to champion his conservation causes.

Meanwhile, Irwin's devastated father admits that after his son's death, it took him "a long time" to sort things out and "not be like a hermit."

RUMER WILLIS wants no drama with mama when it comes to romance – so she’s giving cougar Demi Moore the green light to date her Dancing with the Stars partner, Val Chmerkovskiy!

Rumer, 26, and Val, 29, got cozy during their three months together before taking the DWTS crown, sparking rumors they were becoming a couple.

Making eyes

But friends say while her mom, 52, was cheering Rumer on, Demi was also making eyes at hunky Ukrainian Chmerkovskiy.

“She kept talking about how handsome Val is,” a pal tells GLOBE.

“After Rumer won the competition, she told her mom, ‘If you want to date him, that’s fine!’

It isn’t the first time their love lines have crossed. In 2013, Moore dated her daughter’s former boyfriend, restaurateur Harry Morton.

“It gets a little sticky when her mother dates someone Rumer knows or has dated, but they manage to keep the peace,” says another friend.

Rumer’s ‘DWTS’ partner HAS DEMI HOT TO TROT!

Demi is undeniably a cougar with an eye for young hunks

‘She kept talking about how handsome Val is’

Demi gets between Rumer and Val Chmerkovskiy for a feel of his shirtless back

Indeed, Rumer, who scored perfect marks for her championship foxtrot, freestyle and foxtrot/paso doble, praised her family, including dad Bruce Willis, sisters Tallulah and Scout, and “especially my mom who rallied everyone.”

The friend says it remains to be seen if Val will hook up with Demi, who’s been on and off with musician Sean Friday, 28, for the past two years.

“Val enjoyed spending time with Demi while he was working with Rumer,” the friend says. “But I think the prospect of dating Rumer’s mother might be a bit unsettling.”

CLAPTON’S DRUGGIE BROTHER LIVES IN FLOP HOUSE

ROCK millionaire Eric Clapton’s brother is a down-and-out heroin addict who’s been diagnosed with end-stage cirrhosis of the liver. But the guitar legend isn’t lifting a finger to help him out.

Eddie Fryer, 52, who shares the same womanizing father as 70-year-old Clapton, lives in a squalid, run-down flop house in Vancouver, Canada.

Unlike the Layla singer, who kicked his own terrible smack habit and has ploughed millions into his Antigua rehab clinic, Crossroads Center, Eddie’s still in the drug’s demonic grip.

His addiction is crushing any chance of ever getting a liver transplant.

Even though Clapton has made no move to reach out, Eddie’s girlfriend, Farah Tejani, clings to hope, saying, “If they could at least meet, there might be some help Eric could offer in his position.”

NBC LEAVES HEIGL IN A BAD 'STATE'

BLONDE stunner Katherine Heigl has been in a state of shock since her struggling drama, State of Affairs, was canceled by NBC after just one season.

Heigl, who quit Grey's Anatomy under a cloud, had hoped to re-establish her TV credentials following a fruitless five-year bid to become a big screen star.

But after debuting with close to nine million viewers, "State" ended the season with half that number, so down came the ax.

Now, frustrated fans are left with an unresolved cliffhanger involving 36-year-old Heigl's character, CIA officer Charlie Tucker, whose life was hanging in the balance in the final scene.

Meanwhile, NBC also pulled the plug on comedies, Marry Me with Casey Wilson, About a Boy

with Minnie Driver, and One Big Happy with Elisha Cuthbert.

But on a brighter note, the Peacock network has greenlighted People Are Talking for this fall with Franklin & Bash hunk Mark-Paul Gosselaar, about two couples from different backgrounds.

It's also renewed Undateable and ordered Superstore, a workplace comedy about a unique family of employees at a super-sized megastore, featuring Ugly Betty's America Ferrera and Mad Men's Ben Feldman.

Rules of Engagement's ever-popular Patrick Warburton stars in Crowded with Good Wife's Carrie Preston, about an empty nest couple whose grown daughters move back home – and his parents move in as well!

Superstore and Crowded will debut later in the season.

TV FACT

Parts of the plane wreckage from ABC's drama Lost were turned into instruments that can be heard on the show's soundtrack.

NASHVILLE STAR IN O.J. DRAMA

NASHVILLE beauty Connie Britton has joined the star-studded cast of FX's miniseries American Crime Story: The People v. O.J. Simpson.

The upcoming 10-episode series stars Cuba Gooding Jr. as Simpson. It dramatizes the 1995 murder trial of the disgraced NFL star who was cleared of killing his wife, Nicole Brown Simpson, and her friend, Ronald Goldman - but is now in prison on unrelated armed robbery and kidnapping charges.

Britton plays Nicole's pal Faye Resnick while John Travolta, David Schwimmer and Courtney B. Vance star as O.J.'s lawyers - Robert Shapiro, Robert Kardashian and Johnnie Cochran respectively.

American Horror Story's Sarah Paulson is prosecutor Marcia Clark, Anger Management's Selma Blair plays Kardashian's wife, Kris Jenner, and Into the Woods hunk Billy Magnussen portrays pretty-boy houseguest, Kato Kaelin.

Connie Britton plays Faye Resnick (inset)

SNIPES SNAPS UP ROLE

MOVIE hunk Wesley Snipes is looking to catch a break with a new TV role after passing up a part that could have shot him back to the top.

After serving a three-year sentence in jail on tax charges, he was offered a major role in the pilot for the FOX series Empire. But the 52-year-old actor turned it down, only to see the show become the hottest new drama on TV with Terrence Howard starring as a hip-hop mogul.

So when Snipes was offered the role of a pit boss in the NBC drama pilot The Player, he leapt at the chance.

The action-packed thriller, set in Sin City, centers on a security expert who takes on heroic challenges to save innocent lives.

PETERSEN RETURNS TO CSI

ORIGINAL CSI: Crime Scene Investigation star William Petersen is returning to the role of Gil Grissom - but only to help turn out the lights on the long-running series.

CSI is ending its 15-season run with a two-hour finale on Sept. 27 that will also feature Marg Helgenberger as Catherine Willows.

In further developments, Ted Danson will be leaving Las Vegas for Quantico, Va., where

William Petersen and Marg Helgenberger are back to wrap up CSI he'll team up with Patricia Arquette's Avery Ryan on the renewed spinoff CSI: Cyber, reprising his character D.B. Russell, from the mothership series.

Ryan and Russell already know each other, as "Cyber" was launched in an episode of CSI last season.

Peter MacNicol, who played Assistant Director, Stavros Sifter, will not be returning for "creative" reasons.

EXPOSED! AMERICA'S GREEDIEST FAMILY!

Crooked clan blew $187 MILLION IN CANCER CHARITY DONATIONS on cruises, trips and toys

DUBBED the most heartless family in America, a Knoxville, Tenn., clan raised $187 million for cancer research, then blew the lion's share of the dough on outrageous personal luxuries.

Members of the Reynolds family spared no expense splurging on cars, gym memberships, jet ski expeditions, sporting events, concert tickets and college tuition... and even dating site memberships!

"These 'nice folks' should be in jail for a very, very long time," fumes one outraged Internet poster. But that's not going to happen, even though the Federal Trade Commission and authorities in all 50 states charged the Cancer Fund of America, Inc., Cancer Support Services Inc., Children's Cancer Fund of America

Inc., and The Breast Cancer Society Inc. with charity fraud.

But the masterminds behind the "sham cancer charities," James T. Reynolds, Sr., his ex-wife Rose Perkins, and their son James, Jr., are likely to get away scot-free! A judgment against Perkins will be suspended "based on her inability to pay." Her son will be off the hook when he returns $75,000 in looted funds. The elder Reynolds still faces a lawsuit from the FTC, but the size of his financial holdings is in question.

Cancer victims and the donors were cheated because the "overwhelming majority" of cash "benefited" the Reynolds "family, friends, and fundraisers," the FTC says.

'As bad as it can get'

"Purchases of gas, car washes, meals at Hooters and other restaurants, cell phone apps and games, and movie tickets were all bought with Cancer Fund of America credit cards."

The charity also paid for "a Carnival cruise in the Caribbean," "training" trips to Disney World, babysitters and even "purchases at Victoria's Secret," government investigators charge.

All told, the ruthless crooks spent an incredible 97 percent of all donations on personal expenses or things to make their lives easier.

"This is about as bad as it can get," blasts the FTC's Jessica Rich.

BREAKING NEWS

FARR ROTTE

FARRAH Fawcett's worthless son, Redmond O'Neal, is back in trouble with the law after promising his dying mom he'd clean up his act.

L.A. Judge Keith L. Schwartz revoked the 30-year-old junkie's probation on drugs and weapons charges and issued a no-bail bench warrant for his arrest in April.

But crafty O'Neal managed to elude authorities. On May 14, the former jailbird was spied smoking a suspicious cigarette as he stumbled across a Beverly Hills parking lot with a mysterious blonde. She was carrying a small bag containing a white powder that looked like drugs, says a source.

Paranoid

Redmond, son of Tinseltown womanizer Ryan O'Neal, and his mystery date were acting very peculiarly, according to the eyewitness.

"They sat in a supermarket parking lot for around half an hour," says the source. "Then they drove around and parked a couple of streets away. They sat in the car, but their heads would keep disappearing. It looked like they were trying to avoid being seen while they did something."

"The girl looked paranoid."

Getting out of the car, they

"They looked like zombies, completely wacked out," says the source. "He was walking like an old man."

Dad Ryan, whose other children have battled drug demons, has said Redmond's problems are tied to the fact that he "never recovered from the loss of his mother." But others suggest he's simply rotten to the core.

The Fifth C?

Cut, Color, Carat, Clarity... Chemistry?

Is it possible that the mind of a scientist can create more beauty and romance than Mother Nature? The laboratories at DiamondAura® were created with one mission in mind: Create brilliant cut jewelry that allows everyone to experience more clarity, more scintillation and larger carat weights than they have ever experienced. So, we've taken 4 carats of our lab-created DiamondAura® and set them in the most classic setting—the result is our most stunning, fiery, faceted design yet! In purely scientific measurement terms, the refractory index of the DiamondAura is very high, and the color dispersion is actually superior to mined diamonds.

Perfection from the laboratory.
We named our brilliant cut stones DiamondAura, because, "they dazzle just like natural diamonds but without the outrageous cost." We will not bore you with the incredible details of the scientific process, but will only say that it involves the use of rare minerals heated to an incredibly high temperature of nearly 5000°F. This can only be accomplished inside some very modern and expensive laboratory equipment. After several additional steps, scientists finally created a clear marvel that looks even better than the vast majority of mined diamonds. According to the book Jewelry and Gems—the Buying Guide, the technique used in DiamondAura offers, "The best diamond simulation to date, and even some jewelers have mistaken these stones for mined diamonds."

The 4 C's. Our DiamondAura Quinto 5-Stone Ring retains every jeweler's specification: color, clarity, cut, and carat weight. The transparent color and clarity of DiamondAura emulate the most perfect diamonds—D Flawless, and both are so hard they will cut glass. The brilliant cut maximizes the fire and radiance of the stone so that the light disperses into an exquisite rainbow of colors.
